

I am concerned about the potential interference between BPL technology and licensed users in the HF spectrum. My concern is a result primarily from reports from several countries (Austria and Japan, to name two) which banned BPL systems. I would like the Commission to consider the reasons why these countries decided to not allow this technology when considering what steps are appropriate to ensure that licensed services are not subject to interference.

Thank you,
Jeff Chambers
ARS KK7MQ